CTI—Independent Assurance of Cooling Tower Thermal Performance

CTI (Cooling Technology Institute) is founded in 1950 with headquarter located in Houston, Texas, USA. The Cooling Technology Institute is dedicated to improvement in technology, design, performance and promoting truthful rating of cooling tower capability. Nowadays a lot of government tenders as well as the prestige projects specified CTI in their project requirements. Having CTI certification in advance eliminates the need for costly onsite field tests and ensures system performance will meet design objectives. Up to current, there is only more than 10 cooling tower manufacturers in the global market accredited the CTI STD-201 certifications.
